Washington State small business recognized for quality performance as a government contractor

(Columbus, OH) - Amtech Corporation, Inc. was recently honored by the Defense Supply Center Columbus as one of the government's best suppliers at an award ceremony held during the 2006 Land & Maritime Supply Chains Business Conference and Exhibition, Aug. 28-30, in Columbus, Ohio. Chairman and Owner Richard Clarke and Senior Vice President of Sales and Engineering, Bill Bushbaum accepted the Silver Award from DSCC Commander Navy Rear Admiral Charlie Lilli.

Amtech Corporation supplies composite shelters and lighter weight composite armor solutions for the Humvee light tactical vehicle, known as Helmet Hardtops, as well as a multitude of replacement parts and accessories to the Department of Defense and other government agencies.

"Receiving this award is recognition of our dedication to supplying a quality product that the United States government can be confident in using and receiving on time," said Doug Christie, CEO of Amtech.

Firms that qualify as Automated Best Value System award winners have met the stringent quality and delivery requirements established by the Defense Logistics Agency.

Amtech Corporation, located in Wapato, WA, employs over 140 people and has manufacturing facilities that encompass over 120,000 square feet. Recognized as one of the fastest growing and most innovative small businesses in the state of Washington, Amtech is a diverse manufacturer of composite based products and parts.
